

Episode Eight analysis – Delia Transcript

I'd read right at the beginning that we were supposed to keep a reflective journal, so I've been making some notes and stuff after our meetings. Now I'm gonna use those notes to help me write this assessment. But to be honest, I don't really think this is the best way to mark us. Because, I get that it's really difficult for the tutor to keep track of what we've been doing throughout the project, so that's why we do the peer assessment, but we also get marked on the presentation and now this piece of work we've gotta do. It just seems like a lot of marking for what's just a little group project really. I suppose just trying to cover all the bases and make sure we get marked fairly. Although I am a little bit worried that now we know we get an individual mark, that might be what we're thinking about, rather than the team; and that's not gonna be good because it's taken us long enough to get to this point of being able to work as a team in the first place.
