

Episode Ten – Rob video diary Transcript

I am glad that's over. I was nervous as hell – it went all right, like. And guess who showed up? Liam! No replies to our emails, nothing, and just showed up expecting to get a mark for it. Well Shireen told him exactly where to go. And even Delia and Muzz started chipping in! I think it worked in our favour actually, because everyone had a laugh about it, and then let it go...calmed the nerves.

Delia's introduction was spot on. She must have worked really hard on it, and if she was nervous, you couldn't have told. I hate to blow my own trumpet, but the role play was amazing. Everyone laughed at the right moments, even Jonesy cracked a couple of smiles, so that's gotta push our marks up. Muzz's conclusion were good: really clear. He did forget to ask if there were any questions, but Vikki just jumped in there; it was seamless, like it was meant to happen.

Jonesy popped a few questions at us, but they were pretty standard. He'd asked the same questions to the same groups, like, so we were a bit more prepared for it.

It's a bit of an anti-climax, really. Now it's all over. I know I said that I didn't like working in groups when we started this, but I've got used to it: it's alright. We've had some laughs, we've had a few arguments, but I think I'll miss some of them. We're gonna meet up, and go for a few beers, and I'll definitely see more of Shireen.