

Episode three – Delia video diary Transcript

It's not going too badly; but it all got a little bit heated then. To be honest, I feel like I should have come in earlier and tried to calm it down – maybe suggest that we do a bit more planning, but Shireen intimidates me a little bit, and Vikki's just really hung up on the whole role-play idea.

I think I'm quite good at the planning side of it, because in my job, before university I used to have to do presentations and stuff, and I quite like the planning, I just hate getting up and actually doing the presentation. Rob's okay. He can be a little bit difficult to work with, but he did handle that argument really well. And Muzz has definitely got a lot more to offer, but I think his language is holding him back a bit, and it doesn't help that Shireen keeps interrupting him all the time.
